

The Show with Annissa Coy!

Barefoot in the Country to Industry Leader

Good day to you all, I am Jane May Jones, co-founder of Magical Earth Retreats and today for our first full conversation of the Radiant Enchantress Show, I would like to welcome Annissa Coy.

Annissa was born in 1968 she is the middle of three girls. She grew up in a small country town in Washington State.

Annissa was a happy little girl who grew up on a farm and enjoyed running barefoot with her older sister thru the fields that surrounded their house.

Then everything changed.

Her father started abusing her sexually at the young age of 8 years old.

Her father was very verbally and emotionally abusive to all of the girls and their mother. Her parents are still married to this day and her father has never served time or been prosecuted for his crimes against all three of the girls.

At the young age of 16 Annissa had had enough and she left home and moved 2000 miles away from home.

She got married at just 17 and shortly there after dropped out of high school when she became pregnant with her first child.

Now almost 32 years later her and her husband Kevin have 4 children and 3 beautiful grandchildren. They have been married for 31 years.

Annissa and her husband own 3 businesses that they run out of their home office on the Pacific Coast in Washington State.

Annissa did not finish high school and has never gone to college.

However she is recognized internationally as an expert in her industry and has won many awards and accolades for her accomplishments.

She is an author, speaker, teacher and coach.

Just recently Annissa was honored as the Best of the Best Woman of the Year in her industry.
